JULY 8, 1950
"The days dragged along as I sat in the dungeon, Paddy, unable to ask for the freedom which I deserved..."

"The meals were small, but my chains were still tight—then, one day as I looked down to the dish of food—"

"I saw a note sliding under the door with it... what could this mean? I brought it to the window..."

"...and I read that I would soon be free. O, joy! Paddy! I was to be saved—let me tell you how!"

Sir:
I have never written a crank letter in my life but I can no longer refrain from registering a complaint against the hour-long atrocity on TV Tuesday nights. The Original Amateur Hour is an insult to public intelligence. Unless one is an avid sports enthusiast, TV after nine o’clock is a total loss.
Chicago, Ill. MRS. ROBERT A. GRAY

Sir:
Would certainly appreciate a story on Ted Mack. He has so many fans, I’m sure just loads of us would more than enjoy his life-history.
Chicago, Ill. ANN

Ed. Note: Ted’s life story was told in an earlier issue, but a new interview is scheduled to make an appearance soon.

Sir:
If ever you run a Personality Contest for TV artists, Dennis James would get my vote for personality—best dresser—and most sincere for giving commercials. Next for sincerity is Jim Moran. Keep up the good work, TV Forecast is wonderful. (So is Arthur Godfrey.)
Palos Park, Ill. MRS. L. PETERSON

Sir:
In my humble opinion the prettiest commercial theme song on TV is Chevrolet’s on Tele-Theater, WNBQ.
Chicago, Ill. JAMES A. LE CLERE

Sir:
Would like to give three rousing cheers for Studs’ Place, another wonderful, quiet, typically Chicago production. I hope that it doesn’t go the way of Saturday Square.
Dolton, Ill. CONNIE BERG

Sir:
Is Verna Raymond the Old Gold (NBC-TV) match box dancing girl?
Winnetka, Ill. THOMAS F. GLEASON JR.

Ed. Note: Apparently not. NBC New York still has not identified the girls.

Sir:
Thank you for your complimentary copy of TV Forecast... It wasn’t until we had one in the house that we realized how much we were missing in programs.

NEXT WEEK  ●  "TV In Our Schools"

What progress is being made in the study of video by one Chicago group of high school pupils? You'll read this interesting story by Phil Lewis in next week's TV Forecast, on sale Friday at your favorite newsstand.
BACK in 1927, Ransom Sherman was a daily television star on WOAP. That was while he was still in radio and convulsing the middlewest with "The Three Doctors."... This week Ransom took over the "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" spot while Burr Tillstrom's family headed to Dragon Retreat for a summer vacation... Sherman is one of the most promising things for NBC-TV, and we predict he'll be an institution in a short time... With him are Nancy Wright, Johnny Bradford and the Art Van Damme quintet... Watch out! "Truth and Consequences," is coming this September with Ralph Edwards. It will be seen on WBKB and will not be the same program as the one you hear on radio... If Ronald and Benita Colman do television, Benita will be in good shape for it, we are told. She dances during musical interludes of "Halls of Ivy," their radio show.

Martha Rountree, America's No. 1 woman radio-and-TV producer, is causing whispers around busy Washington... Hints of romance with a high-ranking official continue to persist... Friends hope she stays in television, marriage or no.

Bill "Hopalong Cassidy" Boyd got off this crack about his expert horsemanship this week: "I'm the only cowboy in television who lets the customer see the scenery between my saddle and myself when I'm riding."... Gertrude Berg is the only member of the "Goldberg" cast who has never acted before the motion picture camera. Hollywood begins cranking out film on her story next month... A Chicago boy making good in New York is Hal Block, one of Ken Murray's writers and ad-libber on "What's My Line."... Says Block—"It's so warm in New York that even the Giants are getting hot."... The most beautiful authoress of the year is a composite of Ilka Chase (CBS star) chosen for her mouth; Laura Hobson for her eyes; the nose, Nancy Wilson Ross, and the hair, Kathleen Winsor... If Iolina Massey makes her debut on TV in a spy show, it won't be without a sponsor... Newest pair: Lynn Bari and Lee Bowman, teledetectives in a Martin-Kaneish type show... Worthington C. Miner, "Studio One" producer, is now in Europe with his wife visiting England, France and Italy... They hope to return with scripts for their WBKB show.

Hard at work on "Guys and Dolls," a Broadway production based on Damon Runyon's short stories, is old friend Abe Burrows, wit of "This Is Show Business"... Burrows, as you may have heard, composed that well-known song, "The Girl With the Three Blue Eyes."

There's an even chance you'll see Don McNeill and his three sons, Tommy, 15; Donnie, 14 and Bobby, 9 when McNeill enters television this fall via WENR-TV (ABC)... Fan mail at this magazine indicates readers would like to see Sam Cowling in his own show.

STUART ERWIN—Welcome to television is this loveable Hollywood character Chicago fans saw when he made his debut on WNBQ, channel 5, in "The Jackpot," an Armstrong Circle Theatre presentation. Erwin seems to possess just enough hominess that makes viewers want to invite him back into their living room. We predict a bright future for him in this new medium.

BEVERLY YOUNGER—If you've dropped in Studs' Place, you'll recognize Miss Younger as the blonde waitress called Grace. As midwest as this NBC show, Beverly is receiving compliments on her ability to match the pattern Studs Terkel has set. Close-up camera work of her face reveals many expressions that may remind you of a friend, or sister.

PAUL TRIPP—He's known as Mr. I. Magination on WBKB, and for children in the Great Lakes he personifies the magic train to adventure, new lands. A CBS-TV star, Tripp's wholesome approach to entertaining children is rated highly amongst parents and critics. If you're a new set owner you'll want to meet Mr. I. Magination. He's hope in a troubled world.

WENDY BARRIE—One of the most controversial figures in video is this unpredictable lassie. A former screen star, Wendy makes her headquarters in New York, invites prominent guests to appear on her whirlwind show. Highlight of her show, most fans think, is the reading of her zany fan mail. Ask her to blow you a kiss and she will, from NY to Rock Island, Ill.
"Nobody TV's in the Morning"
by TOM WALLACE

They told Tom Wallace, WGN-TV's morning TV variety showmaster, that morning television would never go. Here are a few remarks from the man himself.

"If they want TV in the morning, you can start at six o'clock." That's what the station management told me.

The studio cameramen said: "TV at ten AM? You're nuts."

"You'd be better than a test pattern," declared a TV Forecast representative.

Inge Jorgensen's mother declared, "It would be better to be an usher."

Barbara Barkley, star of WGN-TV's popular cooking video show, said "It'll be nice to have company in the studio."

But, and here's the most important of all, the televiewers wrote in to say "Why haven't we had morning TV before?"

The latter was the attitude which decided my sponsor on buying the Tom Wallace Show. Our clam bake is now approaching its ninth week and the sponsor says business is up 164%.

The boys down in the WGN-TV mail room say business is really picking up for them. That's the most encouraging news I can ever hear because that means the folks like us.

For a guy who pioneered several AM radio ideas a few years back, such as "Uncle Walter's Doghouse," "Plantation Party," "Avalon Time," starring Red Skelton, "Reveille Roundup," starring Louise Massey and the Westerners; "Blind Date" with Arlene Francis—I find myself enjoying the greatest pioneering effort that I could conceive being possible. The opportunity to "drop in" on a lot of fine folks each morning. Folks who don't have to peek in the ice-box to see if there is anything to feed us. Folks who can end our visit as easily as they can invite us into their homes. Folks who won't let us be a burden to them. Folks who write us that we are the best baby-sitters they ever had. In some homes the grammar school-age youngsters go off to school and the pre-school-age tribe gets bored. Now, instead of having to read, talk, tell stories, draw, go walking, etc., the Mommies just tune in our show.

I thought the highlight of anyone's career would probably have been the opportunity to produce the "Blind Date" show during the war, and the sanctified privilege of meeting and

Chicago Has Done It Again!

By JACK MABLEY

The freshest new television show to appear in months is Chicago's own Hawkins Falls, which is now in its third week on the NBC network. I don't like to lean on cliches, but it is an unavoidable fact that Chicago has done it again.

By Chicago I mean the producers, directors, musicians, actors, and executives who like Chicago—men who prefer to do their TV work here because this city is the only major production center in the nation where originality, imagination, and intelligent humor are more important than high power production, big money, and bombast.

I don't think any other city could have produced Hawkins Falls. It is a charming characterization of life in a small town, with exaggeration for dramatic emphasis, but not to the point where it could be offensive to any small town resident.

The idea of portraying life in a small town is a cliche in itself, but the dialogue in this show, the excellent character acting, and the smooth production place it far above any ordinary show of this type.

Most of the cast are veteran Chicago radio actors. You'll notice the similarity between Marshall Cassigy's voice and your memory of Uncle Fletcher, Frank Dane, Norm Gottschalk, Phil Lord, and Hope Summers are others familiar to TV viewers as well as radio owners.

There are about 150 people directly involved in getting this show on the air. It is scheduled as a summer replacement for the Jack Carter show, but certainly most of us who have seen it hope it will remain on the air long after next September.

You saw newspaper reports a few weeks ago that the ABC network will televise a major pro football game every week at least. No cause for rejoicing for Chicago TV football fans. We'll see, at the most, one exhibition game, maybe a Thanksgiving morning game, and maybe the championship game.

That was the arrangement last year. The idea is that a telecast will not be shown in cities where any pro game is being played, and between the Bears and the Cards, there's a game in Chicago every week.

This coming on top of the Big 10 ban on TV means we'll get most of our football on films next fall. We'll see Notre Dame games, some Eastern college games and local prep., but it's a long way from the glorious days a few years back when we watched the pros, Big 10, Notre Dame, and practically everything on the gridiron. It was pretty sensational, even on a 7-inch screen. No Berle. No Denise Darcelle. But plenty of football.

I began to get an idea of the terrific cost of producing television shows the other day when I toured the ruins of the WGN Studio 1. You probably remember the grandeur of this big modern theater studio which fronts on Michigan blvd.

I had supposed that to alter it for television shows, they had changed some wiring in the control room and added a camera platform or two. That's not quite the case. The entire inside has been ripped out, from roof to basement. The stage, control rooms, seats, main floor, balcony, and everything else but the four walls have vanished, and a completely new theater studio is being built. It will be one of the finest in the world.

No Holidays in

by MILTON

Producing the two full-hour shows, “Cavalcade of Stars” and “Cavalcade of Bands,” each week is a wonderful job. Both of these shows seen over WGN-TV and the Du Mont Television Network—“Stars,” with Jerry Lester on Saturday nights, and “Bands” on Tuesday nights at the same hour—have attained the high popularity ratings that should make a producer happy.

Well, I am. Recently “Cavalcade of Stars” celebrated its first anniversary. During the past twelve months we’ve been able to bring to America’s living rooms many of the finest performers in show business. We have a great comedian and master of ceremonies in Jerry Lester. We’ve had a lot of fun.

Of course, we’ve had some unexpected hurdles from time to time. That’s part of the business, and life certainly hasn’t been dull. Even a prop can throw you on occasion.

On a show not too long ago, J. Carroll Naish and Jerry were doing a skit in which they portrayed a pair of office building janitors. A lot of the humor revolved around the boss of the office picking up a wastebasket several times during the skit and hurling it at Lester with the command, “Empty the wastebasket!”

That wastebasket held up fine all during the week’s rehearsals. Then on the night of the show it literally shattered all over the stage the first time Jerry caught it. One less toss in rehearsal, and we’d have had clear sailing.

Or take our premiere. Near the end of the show that first night I send word back stage that we were running two minutes short. The message got mangled and they thought I was warning that we were going two minutes over. Jack Carter, our emcee at that time, and Peter Lorre, the film villain were doing the final sketch when they got the signal to speed up. They breezed through like Whirlaway. We finished four minutes short!
Show Business

That was timing of one kind. Comedian Jack Leonard provided us with a hilarious example of timing of another sort. Carter and Mimi Benzell, the Metropolitan Opera star, were in the middle of a skit burlesquing "Carmen." According to plan, Leonard was to come on stage while Jack was attempting to drink champagne (water) from Mimi's slipper. Part of the gag was that it was an open-toe slipper and as fast as Carter poured in the "champagne," it spilled right out again.

Leonard, who weighs in at well over 300 pounds, is famous for his fast action. When he comes on stage he comes like a streak of greased lightning. That night he came as usual—hit a puddle of that spilled water—and VOOM! When he sat down it completely broke up the act as well as the house. The audience laughed so hard it was four minutes before we could get them to quiet down.

The greatest problem that faces the producer of a weekly musical show or revue is the shortage of talent. Every-time an important artist reaches town, there are a dozen shows competing for his or her services. Friendship—knowing many of these acts personally from my long years in show business—helps a lot at times like that. So does the fact that these performers know they will get a good presentation on our show. Jerry Lester has established a great reputation for his ability to work with an act, instead of trying to out-shine it.

Certainly one thing that you learn in producing a pair of shows such as the "Cavalcades" is that your work is never finished, and there are no holidays. You no more than have one show wrapped up and on the air than you are right in there pitching to make next week's as good.

Gloom Dodgers Stars
Our Willie Shore

Willie Shore broke the gloom last Sunday when WENR-TV presented the premiere showing of “Gloom Dodgers,” a half-hour of music and comedy, with outstanding guest stars. The show, sponsored by the Dodge dealers of Chicagoland, is woven around two city families, the Brightsides, and the Grimm.

Shore, a Chicago born comedian, is currently playing a local engagement. He was chosen to head the new channel 7 show after having guested on a number of outstanding Chicago video programs. One of his first TV appearances was two years ago on WGN-TV’s “Club Television.” Since then he’s been much in demand to sparkle variety shows.

The Brightside and Grimm families portray optimism vs pessimism. If the following shows are like the first, viewers will soon try to anticipate what the Grimms are going to say and do in each circumstance that confronts them.

I even felt I had fulfilled one entire career when I had the privilege of producing “Uncle Walter’s Doghouse” on NBC before the war, as well as enacting the part of “Uncle Walter.”

But I sincerely don’t believe there is any opportunity more thrilling than my present one—the extreme pleasure of being able to take my crew into Chicagoland homes each morning, via television.

It wasn’t so long ago that people, smart people, were saying, “movies are alright, but they’ll never replace the legit stage!” Or, “talkies are pretty good, but they lack something, they’re just a novelty!” Or, “television can’t affect radio or movies!” Or, “Nobody TV’s in the Morning!”

Don’t sell morning TV short—it ain’t a medium medium!

Gene Autry Rides Across TV Screen

Fair warning to our half-million readers: if the small fry around the house have six-shooters, we recommend you get a sitter Sunday, July 23, and vamoose from the TV scene 'cause Gene Autry is making his video debut in some action-packed western films.

The smell of gunpowder will come from WBKB, channel 4, when "Gold Dust Charlie" is shown. Autry will star and sing songs of the west that have made him a troubador of the range for more than 15 years. The show, sponsored by Wrigley, also features Pat Buttram, the Cass County Boys, Sheila Ryan, Alan Hale Jr., Ralph Sanford, Steve Darrell, and Sam Flint. Of course Champion, Autry's celebrated steed, is spotlighted, too!

Five other shows have been completed, so expect to see "Head for Texas," "The Doodle-Bug," "Silver Arrow, "The Double Switch," and "The Star Toter."

Gene Autry, idol of Chicago children and adults, was born in the saddle down in Tioga, Texas, and at an early age worked as a cowpuncher on his father's ranch. A preacher-grandfather corralled the lad for choir practice each week. When Autry and his family moved to Oklahoma, Gene punched cattle on nearby ranches, then became a telegrapher on the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad. It was Will Rogers who heard him singing one night that encouraged him to get into radio.

Greatest Thing Ever
... TV, That Is

By DON AND VERA WARD

It isn’t very often that the Wards haul off and issue statements that echo resoundingly throughout video land. In fact we have all we can do to persuade our two moppets that it’s bedtime.

But just having emerged the victor in a one-hour-best-two-out-of-three falls match with our eldest three-and-a-halfer, we shall rush into print with the following before she hollers for her drink of water.

And the “echoing” statement? Quote... “Television is the greatest thing that ever happened to talent”... unquote. Never before in the history of entertainment have young people had the opportunity to parade their talent before the American public that they have today. And they can thank television. Even we can remember when there was no such animal as a program (radio or television) which was devoted entirely to giving young people a break. Radio started scratching the surface in the “thirties.” And then came TV to open up endless opportunities.

In the early thirties, when we were in school together, we knew several youngsters who had more talent in their eyelashes than most of the B picture stars in Hollywood. So they headed for the only place that would recognize great talent... Broadway... and they languished in casting offices and thought the only word in the English language was “no!”

Many of them had to give up and go back to selling linen, lamps and lingerie in Murphy’s Main Street department store. What would those same people do today? Or maybe we should ask what are the young hopefuls of today doing? Naturally, they would, and they are, turning to the new universal medium that recognizes great talent... Television.

There are plenty of shows with opportunity unlimited on television. Today the chances of really great talent being recognized is about ten times what it was ten years ago. And we’re both mighty proud to be a part of the stepping stone for young performers with our emcee duties over “Parade” on Station WENR-TV every Monday night.

“Parade” is the kind of program where a youngster can display his talents if he thinks he has that magic something. Maybe he hasn’t got what it takes. But at least he gets the chance to get before the klieg lights and a live audience and give the best he knows.

Believe us, it’s a mighty wonderful feeling to know that you can play a part in helping young entertainers find out their potentialities one way or another. And that’s exactly the feeling we have working on “Parade.” As far as that’s concerned, I guess what we do on “Parade” hits pretty close to the old saying that “There’s nothing like working on something when it doesn’t seem like work....”

Well, please excuse us while we flip a coin to see who gets Mari her glass of water.

THAT SKY’S THE LIMIT!

With sunny program prospects next Fall, NBC is taking no chances. It has its own sky now. It’s a dark grey-green cyclorama, 80 x 14 feet, developed by NBC television production facilities men in response to constant demand for “more and better skies” in dramas. The cyc, colored for the best television effect, is rigged between two pipes for maximum spread and tautness.

TV Forecast
The first time a salesgirl giggled into my plate—charge that is—I knew that television had caught up with me. For years I had managed to wander on and off the stage and in and out of night clubs with a comfortable degree of anonymity. Oh, occasionally, I would kick a pinch-happy patron in the place where it would do him the least good and for one glorious day I would reign as queen of page three in the daily tabloids. But now all that is behind me, with the pinching episodes. Life has become a goldfish bowl and whether I sink or swim, it is all in the public eye.

I must confess that this new found fame is flattering indeed. But it also has its disconcerting moments, like the time at the perfume counter in Macy’s department store. There I was, fresh from an early TV triumph, when I overheard one benign matron say to another, “She stinks!” It wasn’t until they moved on that I discovered the “she” which they had referred to was a new scent.

Another time, after I had first done my molting fur coat routine on NBC’s Saturday Night Revue, I was walking down 5th Avenue enwrapped in my new mink coat (the one that came with the two pair of slacks) when three bobby-soxers, whose avocation up to this point had been Frank Sinatra, descended upon me, not alone for the usual autograph, but for a few locks from the hairs of the coat I was wearing. We made a deal. They got the two pair of slacks—and I walked away with the melting mink.

Making faces in front of all those gadgets which send one hurtling through space and into the living rooms of world-wide neighbors is, I must admit, a nice way to make a living. But that, too, has its personal drawback. People never know whether it is the real you or some face you are making, when you react to a perfectly normal situation.

This summer it will be good to get back to live audiences. “Happy Birthday,” which I am doing at the Chevy Chase Summer Theater in Wheeling, Illinois, just outside of Chicago, beginning July 11th, is what I consider a “fun” play. Not only will I have an opportunity to make my beloved faces, but the challenge of creating a character will be good exercise after fur-coat-shedding.

TV Wrestling and Baseball
by ED PAZDUR

At a recent luncheon with the famous “Manassa Mauler,” Jack Dempsey and his associate Leonard Sacks, this editor grabbed the opportunity to raise his favorite beef of wrestling world championship claims on the part of promoters all over the country.

When asked about the subject, Dempsey replied, “I realize that the Commission does not recognize wrestling as a contest. However, it is really very competitive to the point where it requires years of training.”

Leonard Sacks, a neat, peppy man with a persuasive manner broke in saying, “There is a champion in every section of the country. I believe the time will come when these wrestling factions will get together and come up with an undisputed champion of the world.”

Dempsey, who draws as much as $5,000 for a single refereeing engagement, added, “There is not a champion such as we have in boxing. Perhaps no one wrestler has earned that right.”

And so the story continues. In Chicago, Ray Fabiani claims Londo still possesses the crown while Kohler organized the NWA to declare his own world’s wrestling champ . . . We feel that if enough people are interested in wrestling as a sport then the State Athletic Commission should establish standards to raise wrestling to the level of an official contest and declare an undisputed champion . . . What do you think, fans?

This week’s notes: The French Angel blew into town the other day and retorted, “I could take that NWA crown from Thesz. I’ve beat him no less than five times already.” . . . 36-year-old Walter Palmer was raised on Chicago’s north side and tried his hand in medicine as a student in Northwestern’s pre-med school.

Did you know that Celia Blevins is a full blooded Cherokee Indian girl? . . . Or that promoters clear down to Australia were so impressed by Tarzan White that they are vying for his services? . . . Or that Gorgeous George is about the only wrestler we know of who does not claim any titles?

Ann La Verne has the dubious honor of being the only girl wrestler with cauliflower ears . . . Mrs. Gypsy Joe helps her husband win his matches by scrutinizing his opponents and flashing him code signals from ringside.

Baseball quips: The average age of the Cubs is 24.8 years . . . Mrs. Chico Carrasquel became so fond of the U.S.A. last summer that she is considering Chicago for a permanent home, instead of Caracas, Venezuela, their present residence . . . Dutch Leonard says the toughest game he ever lost was to the Cubs, a 2 to 1, 11 inning battle at Wrigley Field in 1948.

Wayne Terwilliger was a star athlete at Michigan State College in 1948 . . . Vern Stephens, through June 19 games, had hit a homer in every park except Washington . . . Watch for TV Forecast’s feature on Hank Sauer next week.

To Cover All-Stars

Jack Brickhouse, ace WGN-TV sportscaster, who has televised more baseball games than any other sport reporter in the world, will be at the mike as WGN-TV and WNBQ televise the 17th Annual All-Star baseball game direct from Comiskey park, Tuesday, July 11. The veteran sports reporter will be aided by his two competent colleagues, Vince Lloyd and Harry Creighton.

It was a bright sunny afternoon on July 6, 1933, at Comiskey park when the American Leaguers copped the All-Star opener 4-2 on Babe Ruth’s home run. They never relinquished their superiority and currently lead the series 12-4.

The National Leaguers will be in quest of their first victory since 1944 when Nicholson and Cavaretta paced the attack for a 7-1 triumph.

If records are to be the criteria, the senior circuit is doomed since all of their wins have been registered in National League parks ... Boston in 1936; Cincinnati in 1938; St. Louis in 1940 and Pittsburgh in 1944.

Chicago Tribune Sports Editor, Arch Ward, conceived the idea of an All-Star game as a highlight of Chicago’s Century of Progress in 1933. Following its initiation, both major league parks served as hosts to this baseball classic. Millions of fans all over the world have cast their ballots in naming the two star-studded lineups in Tuesday’s All-Star spectacular.

Fiery Casey Stengel, pilot of the World Champion Yankees, and scholarly Burt Shotton, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will direct the field activities. Although the fans elect members of both squads, the privilege of naming the pitching staffs and coaching aids have been reserved for the managers.

Derby Moves to Linden

Video’s thrill a minute sports spectacle, the Roller Derby, will be televised by WENR-TV this Thursday from the skaters’ new home, Linden Airport Armory at Linden, New Jersey, for the next four weeks.

It’s Easy to Win a Spalding Autographed Ball

Autographed baseballs are on their way to the first two winners of TV Forecast’s baseball contest. A ball signed by Wayne Terwilliger of the Chicago Cubs was won by Alfred Ehman, 1741 Wallen Ave., and another autographed by Gus Zernial, star White Sox outfielder, was awarded Ronald Severing, 13, of 3824 S. 57th St., Cicero.

Ehman syllogistically reasoned that the Cubs cannot finish better than fifth, while thirteen-year-old Ronald Severing picks his beloved Sox to wind up fourth. “The Sox have spirit and a lot of it ... I saved my money for a long time to see them play and it’s worth a hundred times that to see them,” says Ronald.

Each week TV Forecast is awarding an American and National League Spalding baseball, autographed by your favorite Cub or Sox player.

Rainbo Grooms Future Boxing Champs

by WAYNE GRIFFIN

"Is boxing really on the way out?" That's the question posed to me more than any other. My answer? Well, let me give it to you in the form of a description—a description of what goes on at Chicago's Rainbo Arena, teledcast on WENR-TV every Tuesday night.

When you hear of a young amateur opposing another beginner, what you'd expect is something just short of a brawl—no skill, just tossing leather in the general direction of the other guy in the ring. Sure you find a kid with three or four fights experience standing there and waving his arms like a propeller—looking as if he would take off on a clear runway over at Midway airport. But the windmills are not the rule.

You find other boxers—and I mean boxers—who display enough talent to turn pro and have very good records. These are the kids I see every week—the good ones and the ones who are testing to see if they have what it takes. All of them are in the ring for one major reason—the sheer love of boxing. That's what makes me feel that the fight game is still a good and alive sport.

Since these are amateurs, another thing that makes me happy is the care and attendance they're given. Every boy who steps through the ropes has been thoroughly examined by a doctor, and we know he is in physical shape to withstand any serious punishment. When it looks as if a boy has taken too much, the fight is immediately stopped. The number of serious injuries at Rainbo has been almost nil.

A surprising thing happens, though, after some of the fighters have had a sufficient amount of bouts. You take an average amateur—put him in the ring for three rounds, and he looks good. If he goes four his next fight, he's dead on his feet. As the same fight-matures, he conditions himself and makes everybody's job easier. He can then take the four rounds in stride.

I'm sure some of these kids—because of their stamina, ability, and love of the game—will go on to rise in the pro ranks.

Does that answer your question? As far as I'm concerned, the fight game is definitely not on the way out—it looks as if it will pick up as time goes on.

Oh, yes—before I sign this off, I'd like to mention the other portion of our ABC-TV "Tomorrow's Champions" telecast. My sidekick Vince Garritty does one of the best jobs in the country in lining up great sports personalities for our intermission interviews. Vince is acquainted with most of the big names in all sports fields, and he gets them for our show when they're in town. During the interviews, Vince and I try to find out human interest facts that are little known about the individual.

If you want to watch a sport with thrills, skill, some laughs, and a lot of entertainment value, turn on channel 7 Tuesday night about 9 p.m. I guarantee you'll get almost as big a kick out of it as I do.
Isn’t it about time that WBKB did something about its announcer on Bleachers Club before the Cubs games? As J. Mabley has pointed out many times, fakers and wise guys give themselves away quickly on television. Viewers have told us that the guy who does the show reminds them of a nightclub emcee who constantly tries to show up his guests. We don’t like it and lest we be misunderstood, this does not mean Linn Burton who does a nice workmanlike job on “What’s the Score?”

The Chicago Bears are a football club that believe in nailing players down long in advance. Proof of this comes from a contract which Phil A. Marineau Jr., 4, of 6504 N. Bosworth av., has had since 1947. The husky little guy is all set to play for George Halas in 1967. His daddy, who solves radio and television problems around town, is Phil Sr., communications engineer of Illinois Bell. . . . When the Yankees were last in town, George Weiss, the N.Y. General Manager, wanted either Bob Cain or Billy Pierce for some talent on the Yank’s Kansas City club. Frank Lane, the White Sox executive, merely said, “We are not a farm club for the Yanks.”

The promotion manager of the White Sox, Bill Griffith, has had more than 150,000 applications for the All-Star game at Comiskey Park. . . . Ernie Carroll, mine host in the Woodland Bards, Comiskey Park’s press, radio and television accommodations, recently left Chicago at 1 a.m. after a night game, fished in a Wisconsin lake and brought back four of the biggest fish ever seen outside the Fulton fish market.

Last March James T. Gallagher, business manager of the Cubs, said the Cubs were good enough to finish fourth, could possibly be in fifth but absolutely no lower than sixth. Emil Verban said fifth. Looks like they knew what they were talking about. . . . Chicago stations didn’t like the idea of covering local races live because of the gambling probe in Washington, D. C., but the eastern stations didn’t scare as easily. WBKB had sponsors and rights to Maywood Harness Racing but the station’s attorney suggested it be passed up because of the nature of the license held by WBKB. It happens to be a temporary certificate but it has been that way since 1940.

“That Dorothy Bond” Looks at Television

The champion of the working girl, Dorothy Bond, Daily News cartoonist, is the gal you’ve been seeing on daytime TV shows as guest star currently. Creator of “The Ladies,” a syndicated panel appearing in 85 cross-country newspapers, Dorothy Bond is a fabulous ex-factory girl, salesgirl, waitress, steno and switchboardiste, which accounts for her ability to round-up powder room gossip.

A TV set owner, Dorothy was asked by the editors of this magazine to draw a guest cartoon on any subject of her choice. The hilarious result is on the next page.

TELEVISION: AN ARLENE FRANCIS BLIND DATE- HYPNOTISM BY DUNINGER AND BREAK THE BANK WITH BERT PARKS! WE'RE HONEYMOONING IN A JIM MORAN COURTESY CAR AT PINCUS PINES!
DEAR BOSS:

I believe in calling 'em, per your strict orders. When a show is a dud, I say so. On the other hand, when something rates a bouquet, your boy Chub wants to compliment the group responsible.

So before I get into a dissection of some boring television shows, let me say that in spite of what my mother-in-law (bless her two heads) thinks about Jimmy Savage's column in a certain daily newspaper, the guy should get an award of some sort for cooking up the fastest TV show in town.

It's all over now, but it should not be forgotten. Savage, in the interests of the Chicago Heart Association, broke all sorts of red tape with unions and what-have-you to present on WGN-TV an All-Star lineup of talent. And the talent deserves the thanks of Chicago: Cliff Norton, Bob T. and orchestra, Willie Shore from the Vine Gardens, Peter Lind Hayes and wife from the Chicago Theater, Lenny Kent from the Silver Frolics (watch this boy, he's hot), Ian Keith from Chevy Chase, Joan Barton, Tony Fontaine, Jack Brickhouse, Christine Nelson, Harry Revel, Jackie Caine, and those two guys with the 19 inch screen biceps, Lou Thesz and Buddy Rogers.

Savage got off a quip that, as one innocent lad commented, probably means something—"I'm just a Vince Garrity, with clarity, in the interests of charity, but that ends the similarity."

It broke the show up.

More stuff like this will probably originate in the cells of Savage, so don't be surprised if they toss in another unannounced sleeper.

Now, to show you I can be mean, I think it's ripe to ask yourself a question: isn't it about time you became selective, and picked the best, instead of watching just everything? It's the only way to improve the level of TV today.

Or am I wrong? CHUB McCARTHY
